Big Deals—Wall Street Waits.

Speculators who before this had seldom had more than a thousand shares short at long, had lines of four or five thousand shares out now, and thus prepared an extremely easy victory for Mr. Vanderbilt, in case he could succeed in bringing out even the semblance of an adjustment of the railroad troubles. Simultaneously with all this

Now the sun his furnace fireth,
Causing human flesh to stew,
And the summer heat inebrieth,
"Is this hot enough for you?"

The river is stationary at Pittsburg and falling at points below.

REGULAR meeting of the Knights of Honor will be held this evening. A full attendance by the members is requested.

The steamer Louis A. Sherley, while being inspected at Cincinnati, on Saturday, collapsed a flue and had to lay up for repairs.

REV. J. M. EVANS will preach at the M. E. Church on Sunday morning. Presiding Elder C. J. Howes will occupy the pulpit at night.

The mercury at nine o'clock this morning stood at ninety-nine degrees, nine degrees warmer than it was at the same hour the day before.

A TELEGRAM received on Monday from Dr. A. G. Browning, who is now at Cambridge, Mass., says that Judge Cole is not well enough to start home immediately, but that his son Allan is better.

A MAN named Camp will probably be convicted of horse stealing at Ashland, and his wife wants to go to the penitentiary with him. As she was with him when the crime was committed her wish will probably be granted.

GRANVILLE SPAN, who told John F. Pollitt with a knife, on Saturday night, had his examining trial at Tolesboro, on Monday, and was held to appear at the Circuit Court. In default of $500 bail he was sent to jail. Mr. Pollitt is thought to be better to-day.

At High Bridge last Friday, Dr. J. A. Henderson, of this city, preached to a good audience. Rev. Harry Henderson preached the same day, and on Saturday morning, Dr. R. H. Rivers preached an able sermon to a congregation of about 3500. He preached also on Sunday and was followed by Dr. George M. Jones, the great Southern Evangelist will be at High Bridge on the 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st. Let everybody go and hear him.

At Manchester, on the 18th instant, Samuel Tumbler attempted to shoot George Nickodemus. An ill feeling had existed between the two, who are young farmers, on account of their rivalry for the hand of Mrs. Druzita Foster, a grass widow. Nickodemus had gone to her house and was talking with her when Tumbler appeared with a shot gun and discharged it at Nickodemus. He fortunately missed his mark. He is under arrest and awaiting trial.

The Table Graoned.

This is an old expression, used to convey the idea of a big dinner, so big as to make the table groan, and threaten to tumble to the floor. Sometimes it takes people eat too much of the big dinner and have to groan over the attacks of indigestion, the precursors of regular dyspepsia. Brown's Iron Bitters, the great enemy of dyspepsia, relieves all this trouble and makes comfort take the place of groaning. Mrs. Matilda Davidson, Montgomery City, Mo., says, "I took Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia, and it did me great good."

The cause of the Commonwealth against Nelson Bass, charged with grand larceny, is being tried in the Circuit Court to-day. This is the second trial of the case. Bass having been convicted at the last April term and sentenced to three years confinement in the penitentiary. His attorneys, Hon. E. C. Pfister and son, Thomas R. Pfister, obtained a new trial for him afterwards. Bass is accused of stealing $35 from Mr. Porter Henesley, who resides near Helena. At the time of our going to press the attorneys in the case were arguing a motion to instruct the jury to find for defendant on the ground that the Commonwealth had failed to prove the charge as alleged in the indictment.

Sign of the Stars.

It seems that people are never as well pleased as when badly humbled. Therefore some who don't stop to think, say four-hole sheet iron ranges for $63, and give their notes, which are sold at once, for half their face, to the nearest bank. They heat up quickly in summer, for they are awful thin, and, of course, take but little fuel. When winter comes, and more fuel is required, they twist all out of shape. The guarantee of the traveling peddlers should be preserved as heirlooms. Why not buy a six hole wrought iron range, and all the furniture of celebrated manufacture, for the same money, now in stock at the Old Reliable Stove, Range and Mantel House of Blatterman & Power, Mayville, Ky.

PERSONALS.

Mr. William Keeler, of Covington, is in the city.

We regret to announce that Mrs. C. B. Pearce is very ill.

Prof. W. W. Richeson has returned from Lewis County.

Mr. John Means, of Aurora, Ill., is visiting his friends this city.

Mr. John B. Poyntz, Jr., left on Monday evening for Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. James W. Pierce and Miss Lillie Throop returned home to-day.

Mr. John Furlong left for Frankfort, yesterday, to be absent for a week or two. Rev. J. A. Henderson will leave for High Bridge Camp Meeting next Monday.

Mrs. O. T. Canfield, of Aurora, Ind., was the guest of the family of Mr. A. B. Crum, last week.

Mrs. Mary Alexander, of Cincinnati, a former resident of this city, is visiting Mrs. J. James Wood.

Miss Nettie Hill, of Mt. Olivet, and Miss Maggie Pollitt, of Manchester, are the guests of Mrs. E. J. Thompson, of the East End.

A New Ledger.

Mr. C. L. Newby, of Wm., has invented a ledger which is designed to take the place of the old time ledgers, both single and double entry. After giving it a somewhat careful investigation we do not hesitate to give it our hearty endorsement. Many advantages are claimed for it, the chief one being its great saving of labor. By its use a merchant will be more apt to close his accounts more promptly, as the posting and drawing off of accounts are done at the same time. Mr. Newby has already sent several agents in the field and they report doing well. We hope the inventor of this book will reap a rich harvest from his sales.

Prof. C. A. Leonard, Professor of Commercial Science in Central University, says of this ledger: "I have thoroughly examined the new ledger invented by Mr. Newby, and take pleasure in unreservedly recommending it to all book-keepers as a valuable invention for the saving of time and labor. It saves the expense of bill heads, dispenses with day-book if so desired, and, above all does away with that base of so many weary book-keepers' existence—the drawing off of long accounts. Mr. Newby is a practical book-keeper of twenty-five years' experience, and this invention is the result of his experience in this line. It is an admirable arrangement suited to any sized retail business." (Richmond, Ky.) Herald.

For sale by D. M. Wilson, traveling agent, residence Second street East Mayville, adjoining Tolt & Co. Lock box 55 postoffice.

Mr. John B. Hooton, of this city, has invented a water wheel for steamboats, by which, it is claimed, increased speed and carrying capacity is obtained. The wheel is worked by a chain, and there are on each side of the boat three driving wheels and two carrying wheels. The invention is at least a novel one.

That Trip to Dayton.

(Correspondence of the BULLETIN.)

Your correspondent was one of the committee that went from this county one day last week to Dayton, Ohio, to inspect some of the improved hedge fences completed by the Dayton Hedge Company.

With one or two exceptions the committee was composed of some of our most practical and influential farmers, who had no other object in view than that of satisfying themselves on a personal investigation of the matter that the company could construct a good fence, and that it was in a sound financial condition. The rest of the committee had the start of your correspondent by half a day at least, but as luck would have it, they were met at the Central Hotel, in Cincinnati, as they were about to board a train on the C., C. & I. road for our destination. We were under the guidance of Mr. W. M. Viser, the hedge company's agent in this section of Kentucky. Mr. Viser is himself a Kentuckian, coming from the Southern part of our State. He is distantly related to the wife of Chief Justice Stanley Matthews, of Cincinnati, and in addition to this, he is a kind and courteous gentleman, is a thorough business man. He has been connected for several years with the Dayton Hedge Company, having devoted almost his entire time and attention to the business, and it is safe to presume that what he doesn't know about hedge fences and their merits is hidden in the bottom of the sea.

On the run out to Dayton we passed through one of the most fertile regions in the whole State of Ohio. I refer to the valley of the Big Miami River. The gardens and truck farms which help to supply the table of Cincinnati extend out a distance of fifty or sixty miles along this road. After these are passed comes the farming region proper, where fine crops of corn, wheat, oats, potatoes, timothy and tobacco are grown annually. The season so far this year has been favorable in this section and crops are looking remarkably well. We passed field after field of fine corn, oats and timothy as I ever saw. The farmers along the road were busy making hay and harvesting oats. But very little wheat and tobacco was seen until we passed Franklin. What tobacco we saw was in the vicinity of Franklin and was of the best quality. It seemed as good, if not better, condition than any I have seen in Mason County. The soil is undoubtedly a fine agricultural district. The soil is a dark sandy loam. At a depth of six to eight feet it is underlaid with gravel. One sees no swamp land at all along the route. The layer of gravel beneath the soil is a system of drainage provided by nature, that cannot be bettered by any artificial contrivance. The city of Dayton, with its population of thirty thousand, I am told, has no artificial system of drainage.

The run to Dayton, distance fifty-seven miles, was made in seventy or eighty minutes. On our arrival we were met by Mr. Wesley Young, President of the Dayton Hedge Company, and passed some three or four hours viewing some of the completed hedges in the immediate vicinity of Dayton. Some of the gentlemen who accompanied me, located at Dayton, twenty-three years ago and went into the hedge fence business. From that time to the present time he has given his whole time and attention to the improvement of this fence. He is a shrewd and energetic man of business, a good talker, not a pleasant and agreeable company. He lets nothing interfere with his business. Last fall just prior to the October election, he was elected to the office of mayor of Dayton, and he has since then been engaged in the hedge fence business. The result of all this, may be seen in the extensive business of the fence company, and the improved fence it is engaged in growing. There has been a great improvement in the fence under Mr. Young's constant care and attention for the past twenty-three years as there has been in anything you can mention. The polished ledge of the fence committee says are no more like the old-fashioned ledgers one occasionally runs across in Mason County than the trim, fair, built cottage is like the old log cabin; or the modern farming utensils are like the old-fashioned implements of by-gone days.

The improvement has been a great one in the case as it has been in the other. The fence completed by the Dayton Hedge Company has no-stress, no-impurities, regularity of structure, and the Barb wire is combined with the hedge in the completion of the fence. One of the best parties present at Mr. Young, described the fence as "constructed of sections which are each composed of a series of plants bent down and secured to suitable posts, the lines of each succeeding section being anchored at one end to the inflexible portions of some of the trees, and the preceding section, and terminating at the other end within the section whose plants it secures, whereby each section is enabled to conform to the curvature and expansion of its own line-wires without being affected by the contraction and expansion of the line-wires of the other sections."

When completed the fence is a neat, substantial and lasting one. By their system of planting, the growth of the plants is obtained. The fence does not interfere with the cultivation of the ground close up to it, any more than an ordinary post-and-rail fence. The company are completing these combined Barb wire and hedge fences at a cost of one per cent, on the value of the land, the first year when the plants are set out; one fifth the second year when the fence is re-set; one fifth the third year when it is again re-set, or side-trimmed and the balance when the dwarfing and plashing are done and the fence completed. Your correspondent could write more on this subject, but it is unnecessary. The committee was unanimous in its opinion that the fence was the best they had seen to be, and that the Dayton Hedge Company ranked well as to financial standing.

While at Dayton, the committee spent a short time at the National Soldiers Home. The home embraces almost an entire section of land—about 640 acres—lies about four miles west of the city. The grounds are laid out in beautiful lawns and drives, the avenues or drives being named after the different States of the Union. The buildings, the architecture, the design, are so numerous that the place presents the appearance of a small city. It is again re-set, or side-trimmed and the balance when the dwarfing and plashing are done and the fence completed. Your correspondent could write more on this subject, but it is unnecessary. It is impossible for me in a short letter like this, to speak of the many things of interest to be seen at this place. I am convinced of one thing, and that is if any of the readers of the BULLETIN should ever visit the home they will think, as your correspondent does, that the institution is one of the grandest ever established by our government. M. F. M.

Henry Bowers was talking about hunting. He remarked to Nathan Kimble, of the Dayton Hedge Company, that he was out at Union Creek: "When I reckon up what it costs me for ammunition, the clothes I run in tramping over the country, and what I neglecting my business, every quail I shoot costs me five dollars." "Then you can thank your stars for the hedge fence," said your correspondent. "It is lucky that you are such a poor shot, or you would bankrupt yourself."

Shoberton: "Ah, Dudley, I understand you are to be congratulated. Is the fair one pretty?" "Yes, she is," said your correspondent. "Good figure?" "Dudley: "Y-y-yes." "Bout a million."

"John," said Mrs. Brinton to her husband, "I intend to return some calls this afternoon. Will you be so kind as to call on Mr. S. S. Shoberton, and tell him to send up a card to visit with a driver?"

"Beware," said the potter to the clay, and it became ware.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR THE CONSERVATIVE CABINET.

The Seizure of Herat and the Bombastic Proclamation of the Ameer of Afghanistan—Wolsley Anxious for War—General Foreign Notes.

LONDON, July 21.—Every breeze from Herat continues to throw the political and financial world into spasms and convulsions. The Alikhanoff and other embryo Skobelevs on the Heri Rud have now given the Salisbury-Churchill cabinet a magnificent opportunity. Every one behind the scenes feels convinced that Russia intends some day or other to seize Herat and push on to the Indian ocean. Russia is slowly but steadily preparing for the grand move. Thousands of miles of railway, planned by the indomitable Gen. Annenkoff—aided by the advice of a graduate of West Point and ex-lieutenant of engineers of the United States army—are already dotted in red ink on the Russian staff maps of Central Asia and Afghanistan. Persia is already a mere vassal of Russia. A secret treaty authorizes the czar's troops to march across Persian territory to be fed with Persian provisions.

Russia has everything in Central Asia all cut and dried. She has already "hoaxed" Herat and is only "playing" the big fish before getting out the landing net. On the other hand the England of Salisbury and Churchill seems, as far as Russia is concerned, to be the same as the England of Gladstone and Greyville. England continues to bolster up the unpopular ameer just as she has been bolstering up an unpopular khedive. The ameer is made a grand commander of the Star of India by Salisbury and Churchill just as the khedive received the same decoration from Gladstone and Greyville.

The ameer issues an absurd, bombastic proclamation about his new decoration entitling him to the protection of the Indian army. He makes grand illuminations and fire salutes of one hundred and one guns. The ameer has allowed the British boundary commission to pitch their tents within ten miles of Herat and to make "flying and stealthy visits" to the "key of India." Anything more than this would entail "disturbances," and result in the British commission, together with the ameer, being kicked out of the country. With these facts before their eyes the British cabinet, if they have any veneration for the traditions of Palmerston or of Beaconsfield, have only one course left open—a definite issue should at once be framed with Russia.

Thus far, but no farther, should be the watchword. The demand should be made that Russian troops recross Heri Rud and evacuate Zulfikar. Now is the moment for England to strike. It hesitates, she is very likely to get the worst of it. If fighting is delayed until October then the Baltic will be frozen, and England's only chance to hit her adversary in a vital point will be lost. Meanwhile the season for a Russian campaign in Afghanistan has become more favorable. In spite of the grand peace at any price party the overwhelming majority of Englishmen would eagerly respond to firm plans and true grit if the cabinet will only show it. Lord Wolsley and nearly all the military naval advisers of the government are convinced that the sooner the war with Russia comes off the better. Lord Wolsley is almost as eager for war as Gen. Orlovitch is. Lord Wolsley is mortifying under the effects of the role imposed upon him by the late ministry.

He feels toward Gladstone just in 1892. McClellan felt toward Stanton. "Our only General" now takes his seat in the house of lords with the Conservatives. Lady Wolsley and Lady Randolph Churchill are on very intimate terms. Lord Wolsley and Lord Randolph Churchill are both eager to fight Russia, but the three Finance members of the cabinet—Mr. W. H. Smith, Lord Lansdowne and Sir Richard Cross—are pulling at their colleagues' coat tails and letting "I dare not" wait upon "I would."

The Munster Bank.
DUBLIN, July 21.—Earl Carnarvon, in reply to the committee of shareholders of the Munster bank, who waited upon him, urged the government to guarantee an advance of five hundred thousand pounds from the bank of Ireland to tide the institution which they represented over the present embarrassment. He said such matters were outside of the government's province, and such action as the committee requested would be warranted only when a national calamity was threatened.

Death Roll.
MADRID, July 21.—In complete return from the various cholera infected districts of Spain since the number of dead at 704, new cases 1,594. The disease has spread to the city of Valladolid, where several cases have occurred.

FELL FORTY-FIVE FEET.

A Young Painter is Almost Instantly Killed in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, July 21.—A young painter, named Henry Reidelinger, aged 19, living at 507 Walnut street, fell from a scaffold at 447 Plum street, and was almost instantly killed. With some fellow workmen Reidelinger had been engaged in erecting a scaffold, preparatory to painting the above house. The scaffold had been built about forty-five feet from the ground, when it suddenly gave way and fell to the ground, carrying the deceased with it.

While yet breathing the injured man was picked up and carried in Patrol No. 3 to the city hospital, but he died on the way and the body was at once taken to Hahlg's.

Young Reidelinger was nearly twenty-one year of age, was unmarried and lived with his widowed mother.

A Boy's Body Recovered.
CINCINNATI, July 21.—The body of a lad apparently about twelve years of age was brought to the surface by one of the Newport ferryboats, and was taken to the Newport shore. Corporal Daneson, of that city, summoned a jury and in inquest resulted in a verdict of accidental drowning. The lad's name was Nelson, and he was drowned on Thursday from Brown's Landing, at the foot of Lawrence street. His parents reside in this city.

Lightning.
HICKORY, N. C., July 21.—The barn of William N. Morris, Blowing Rock, Lenoir county, was struck by lightning and destroyed. Edward Morris, aged 10, was fatally shocked. Some stock in the barn was also killed. The building was literally razed to the earth.
